Organizational Meeting Planned for Book Club

(Nottoway County, Virginia – January 12, 2017)

If you haven't stopped in at the Crewe Library lately, you are probably unaware of the upcoming organizational meeting that will be held at 2:00 on Wednesday, January 25. Book discussion groups are an integral part of library services, encouraging members of the community to read and discuss books that they may not otherwise have chosen. The groups not only encourage literary exploration but also encourage a feeling of community among diverse members of the population.

The Nottoway County Public Library System recognizes the importance of literacy-related activities for all ages and encourages community residents to attend the organizational meeting later this month. To keep costs low, the book club will choose from titles readily available in paperback format, and interested readers are asked to bring three books (or titles) for consideration.
