And the Winner Is...

(Nottoway County, Virginia – May 20, 2017)

Last month, nearly fifty people suggested names for the Nottoway County Public Library System's new mascot, and they and others returned to the three library branches to vote in second phase of the contest. Those results have been tabulated, and Library Director Jackie Zataweski reports, "It was a close contest, but 'Butterscotch' received the most votes." Crewe resident May West submitted the winning name, and she will receive a mascot of her own.

The mascot's work is not done, however; she will spend the summer touring Nottoway County. Photos from her travels will be published, and readers will be invited to come to the library to guess where each photo was taken.
